

There is currently a bill before the U.S. House of Representatives (HR 808) to establish a U.S. Department of Peace. We need your support to help make this bill law -- by calling and writing your representatives.

The primary function of a United States Department of Peace will be to research, articulate and facilitate nonviolent solutions to domestic and international conflict. The Department of Peace will employ proven and effective strategies for reducing violence in our country and around the world, including nonviolent communication skills, conflict resolution techniques and cultural relationship building.

Call your Senators and Congressperson today and urge them to support this Bill. (Instructions on the back of this card.) Remember: Your call could make a world of difference....
